SHIPMASTERS ELECT OFFICERS

Detroit Lodge Holds First Meeting in New Quarters.

Detroit lodge No. 7, Shipmasters' association, yesterday celebrated the opening of its commodious new quarters in the Biddle house, on Jefferson avenue, with the annual election of officers. New officers are: President, Capt. Alex. J. McKay; first vice-president, Capt. Fred J. Simpson; second vice-president, Capt. A. J. Mahon; recording secretary, Capt. L. P. Anderholt; financial secretary and treasurer, Capt. Timese LeMay; trustee, Capt. A. J. Fox.

No change is made in the list of officers from that of last year, with the exception of the first vice-presidency. This is the eighth time Capt. McKay has been chosen president of Detroit lodge. It is the fifth election of Capt. LeMay as treasurer, and the third successive time Capt. Anderholt has been made secretary. It is evident that the work of the present officers of Detroit lodge is pretty satisfactory.

President McKay announced the following appointments: Chaplain, Capt. B. Armstrong; marshal, Capt. G. F. Recor; warden, Capt. Charles Rattray; sentinel, Capt. J. C. Maddock; installing officer, Capt. W. J. Crosby.

Grand Lodge in January.

Formal installation of the officers-elect will be had at the next meeting, on the afternoon of January 2. The regular date for meetings is Tuesday, but as the next meeting date falls on New Year's, it goes over for a day.

Capt. Alex. J. McKay was unanimously chosen delegate to the grand lodge, and Capt. M. G. McIntosh was selected as alternate without a dissenting voice. The grand lodge meets in Toledo, the latter part of January. It is hoped that Detroit may secure representation among the officers of the grand lodge this year, and efforts are making to that end.

New Rooms Are Pleasant.

General satisfaction is expressed with the new quarters on the second floor of the Biddle house, where three large rooms have been fitted up especially for the Shipmasters' association and the Ladies' auxiliary. The comfortable lodge room faces on Jefferson avenue, while back of it is the ladies' auxiliary parlor and library. The lounging and billiard room, is in rear of the other rooms. Comfort rather than display has been aimed at in the fitting out of the rooms, and the result meets with the approval of the membership.

Annual Ball Will Be Hammer.

Arrangements are now practically perfected for the annual ball of lodge No. 7, to be given January 10 in the Masonic temple. Several thousand invitations have been sent out, and the attendance promises to be larger than ever. Capt. L. M. Stoddard is chairman of the executive and floor committees, Capt. A. J. McKay of the reception committee, Capt. Timese LeMay of the invitation committee, Capt. Wm. McLean of the door and carriage committee, and Capt. A. J. Mahon of the refreshment committee. Two orchestras will be on hand.
